Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

As an inspired visual communicator I embrace the idea of concept to create stimulating images. I focus my work towards the editorial, publishing, design and advertising arenas though there are no boundaries to the projects that I may undertake. A new departure for me is the area of illustration for children, one within which I am currently experimenting following the writing of my first children's stories.

I have won several major awards for my work and have exhibited widely in major galleries and museums.

Whatever your project, please call to discuss your requirements, a budget within which to work is always helpful, though quotations can be made for projects based upon usage, territory and time-scales.

I offer a very friendly service and ultimately aim to please as many of my past and present clients will confirm.
