Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae
'Versatile, prolific and in demand' according to Marmalade magazine, London. Zara Wood, also known as 'Woody' originally studied Fine Art and went on to become a freelance illustrator in 2001. Since that time she has been based in London and Melbourne, where she's produced work for advertising, editorial and fashion. Her work has been featured in Creative Review and she recently gave a talk on her love of cardboard at the ICA in London. 2006 has already seen the launch of Woody Products including greeting cards and limited edition prints. Later on in the year we can look forward to an animation website by the illustrator.
