Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

I'm Chris and I am a freelance web designer. I specialise in clean website design, identity design and accessibility. if you need to edit your own website then I can make that possible and if you need to sell on-line then you have come to the right place. You can find out more about me in the about me page. Below you can see the last twenty or so projects that have been added to the website. If you would like to discuss any project you have in mind then please don't hesitate to get in touch.
