Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Drawing is one of the oldest forms of human expression preceding that of written communication, as demonstrated by the production of cave and rock paintings created by Homo sapien sapiens around 30,000 years ago. I've always found great joy in drawing and much like Homo sapiens I started drawing long before I was able to communicate in writings.

I started drawing for small projects at the age of 11 for my primary school and at the age of 16 for a local book publication. Now I am working as a freelancer creating drawings and illustrations for individuals, events and small companies whenever I am not working on other (museological) projects. Since 2012 I am working under the digital alias of 'Hannighan', with shops at Society6, Redbubble and DesignbyHumans and a Facebookpage at facebook.com/hannighan.
