Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

I am a native of Portugal, a country filled with passionate people, exotic colors, incredible scenery and amazing food. Starting at a young age, I worked in my family's pottery factory and later started my own business as a buying agent, specializing in beautiful house wares and home décor. For as long as I can remember, I have always had a fascination and passion for photography. Finally, I followed my heart to America in pursuit of a formal education in photography. I have been shooting independently for a number of years now and my client list is growing!

The culmination of all these life experiences, my education in photography and my passion for life, has resulted in my unique ability to capture and relate food photography and food culture stories.
