Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

I am a designer, photographer and writer living in Brooklyn, NY. I received a masters degree in industrial design from the Rhode Island School of Design and a BFA in photography from the San Francisco Art Institute after attending Hampshire College and studying Fashion Design at the University of Northumbria in Newcastle, UK. I have previously worked in sustainable food advocacy, and at Metropolis Magazine as well as for the NASA project at RISD.

In addition to designing products, I also do freelance consulting and multi-disciplinary design for a variety of for- and non-profit clients.
