Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Leigh Ellen Kosloski currently freelances as a graphic designer and creative director in Austin, Texas for public relations firms, business owners and non-profit organizations. Previously, she creatively directed Siesta Key University, a concept boutique located in Siesta Key, Florida. Leigh designed all products, promotional and environmental materials for the company.

Leigh is a 2005 graduate of Lehigh University, located in Pennsylvania and ranked 37th amongst all universities by U.S. News. At the university, Leigh majored in journalism with a minor in fine art. Although graduating at the top of her class, she realized that her true passion and talent rests in art and design. Opting not to follow with a master's degree in journalism, Leigh was accepted after extensive application procedures to New York City's Fashion Institute of Technology.

Previous Clientele

Deep Blue Sea Records, Conde Nast, V Foundation for Cancer Research, Siesta Key University and various small business owners.
