The screenshot shows the homepage of tardymail. At the top, there's a dark red header bar with the 'tardymail' logo on the left, a 'Create an account' button, and a 'Sign in' button on the right. Below the header, there's a large white area containing a cartoon illustration of a smiling man in a suit pointing upwards with his right hand. He is positioned next to a laptop. To the left of the illustration, there's a section titled 'What is tardymail?' followed by a block of placeholder text (Lorem ipsum). At the bottom left of this section is a 'Sign up' button. The rest of the page is a plain light beige color.

The screenshot shows the homepage of MixedInKey. At the top, there's a navigation bar with links for 'Homepage', 'PC + MAC OS', 'How-to', 'In the news', and 'Community'. The main visual is a photograph of a DJ with pink hair performing at a club. A purple banner across the photo says 'Buy Full Version for $58'. Below the photo, there's text: 'Want to see which famous DJs use harmonic mixing? Visit Events MixedInKey.com to see upcoming DJ events.' On the left, there's a screenshot of the MixedInKey software interface showing a library of songs. On the right, there's text about how the software works and its value for DJs.
