Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

I am a writer, designer, product strategist, user experience guru, branding expert and actor who uses the power of storytelling to design interactive experiences and create engaging entertainment.

For more than 15 years I've worked in diverse creative and leadership roles on cutting edge projects for companies such as ABC News, The BBC, Coca-Cola, ESPN, Reuters, Viacom and Vogue, helping them to define narratives for compelling customer experiences.

My success in helping companies achieve their unique goals comes from my underlying passion for creating wicked cool entertainment, from some of the best direct-to-video horror films to come out of the 1990s to award-winning commercial campaigns for ILM commercial productions and EIDOS, from webisodes such as Teen Nick's "Exit Strategy" to the recent feature films "Ghost Club", "Blood Junkies" and "Resurrection Men".

I've recently co-founded Small Media Extra Large, a story-telling agency with interactive, social media and video production capabilities that leverages the power of storytelling to create captivating websites, mobile apps, games, web series and advertising.

Previous Clientele

BC News, The BBC, Citibank, CNN, Coca-Cola, Eidos Entertainment, ESPN, ILM Commercial Productions, McGraw-Hill Higher Education, MetLife, Monster, MTV, Nokia, NPR, Orange, Reuters, The Smithsonian Natural History Museum, Teen Nick, Vogue
