Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

I'm Nehal, a freelancer web and graphic designer who's born & raised in Cairo.

Welcome to my personal Website, it's simply a showcase to some of the work that I have created through my working years. I always knew I would grow up to be a designer or work in anything art related, I've always been into anything and everything involving creativity ever since I was little.

I had a Bachelor degree in Computer Science in 2008 and after then, I decided to work professionally as a Designer. I took some courses in web and graphic design while I was in college, but most of the things I have learned are self-taught through online tutorials off the Internet and constant self-study.
