Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Film making is Patricia Murphy's life. She is an honorary life member of BAFTA and judges annually for both the EFA and BAFTA.

Over her prolific career, Patricia has accumulated a substantial wealth of experience having shot well over 600 film projects all over the world. From the scorching deserts of Namibia to frozen high alpine passes; from Monument Valley to the fabulous Palaces of Jaipur; Patricia has directed her team, solved a million practical production problems and returned with award winning commercials in the can.

Patricia invariably operates her own camera which always brings an immediacy and dynamic fluency to her work. She is widely respected for her command of a wide range of in-camera techniques, her encyclopaedic knowledge of film lenses and filters, and her sensitive mastery of dramatic performance.

Patricia started out as an assistant film editor but she quickly realized that she wanted to work with her own material. It was logical that she begin directing.

Patricia Murphy has now been directing for 20 years. She started her own production company 18 years ago and she is still the sole owner and sole director. She is arguably the most awarded female commercials director in the world.
