How much would it cost you to move to the...

STAR WARS

universe?

EPISODE I: WHERE IS THE GALAXY FAR FAR AWAY?

While no one knows exactly where exactly the Star Wars saga takes place, there are clues and references in George Lucas's and Steven Spielberg's movies which suggest how far away the galaxy far far away really is.

28 500 000 000 000 000 KILOMETRES

With the help of E.T. from the movie E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial our scientists have been able to come up with that number. In the movie it is pointed out that E.T. is THREE MILLION LIGHT YEARS away from home, knowing how much one light year is, we were able to calculate that number...

EPISODE II: HOW ARE YOU MOVING THERE?

The human race is light years from inventing the hyperdrive, so in the meantime we have settle for a Luton body van - a vehicle used by professional moving companies.

If we're following the laws and we imagine that getting to the galaxy far far away is done via a motorway then we have to bear in mind the speed limit. The speed limit on a motorway for a Luton body van in the United Kingdom is 70 mph or 113 km/h.

25 222 389 380 530 973 HOURS TO GET THERE

EPISODE III: HOW MUCH WILL IT COST?

A professional removal company charges between £45 and £55 per hour per worker plus the fuel expenses. An average Luton body van does an average of 8.5 kilometres per litre and a litre of gas costs £1.30 This rounds your check to £4 584 935 576 324 419 565

Or about 164,000 times more money than there are in the world.
