Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Ever since I can remember I was always drawing and doodling throughout my childhood, and when I went onto to study Digital Interaction Design I liked the link it created between design and technology. It allowed me to experiment and hone my skills to prepare myself for the future. I am now interested in graphic design, service design, typography and still love to illustrate.

In my final year I got to research and explore cities and the interaction with maps. This led me to work on my dissertation and final year project in this area. I hope to continue researching cities and would love to be part of any area in the creative world.

Awards and Accolades

In 2009, me and five other students, won the opportunity to fly to Seattle to present our project, Social Sewing at the Microsoft Headquarters.

This was a great experience getting to hear their thoughts on our from highly skilled designers. I met great people while I was there, and gained many new skills.
