Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Sam Gilbey has been drawing for as long as he can remember, and illustrating professionally since 2004. His distinctive, colourful illustrations often feature human figures and observational elements. Combining digital and analogue techniques, they have been featured on websites and in books, comics and exhibitions all over the world, as well as in an ITV sitcom, and a test shoot for a movie. His style often draws upon, and celebrates popular culture, whether that's movies, videogames, and/or the occasional large robot.
