Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Scott has over ten years experience as an architectural illustrator and has broad experience in the design, development and visualization of real estate. In 2011, Scott opened his own studio which is located in the isthmus city of Madison, WI. In his work, he specializes in the ideation and development of compelling visual communications and place-making design concepts. Scott's approach to each project is to partner with clients to develop authentic stories that share design ideas and concepts which begin conversations with affected stakeholders. Scott's work has been featured nationally and has proven to be integral to the realization of quality built environments. Scott has special interest in the nexus of technology, communication and the arts; and the ways in which design can be used to improve the human experience in the built environment. Scott maintains a blog on the subject of design thinking.

Design Philanthropy

Scott practices design philanthropy and continues to provide in-kind supported community initiatives all over the world. When possible, he collaborates with like-minded partners to advance projects to improve the human experience of the built environment.
