Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

A London commercial photographer by trade Graham relocated to The Gower Swansea, building a new remote digital studio, where he enjoys the freedom to create imagery he loves, alongside commissioned work in London, national and internationally.

During his extensive training, Graham has specialised in Advertising photography, learning 'Old School' craft alongside 'Cutting Edge' technology. He works with a number of leading London agencies creating imagery for global advertising campaigns as well as local projects. Working both commercially and artistically allows him the freedom to produce imagery to his own high standards.
