Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae
North East based Amanda Bradley is a freelance illustrator and designer. Her work is inspired by people, places and culture and uses illustration as a form of message and information sharing.

Amanda draws digitally, with pencil and ink and uses textures and collage to create her own inimitable drawing style. She works to commission and produces work for sale and exhibition and has recently started her own product range.

Amanda loves the whole design process and can work on a project in its entirety or help with individual elements including illustration for;

Homeware Products // Branding // Research // Trends // Concept Generation // Clothing // Textile Design // Design Development // Character Design // Bespoke Artwork // Stationery Products // Editorial Work
