Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Airstage is a research oriented unique company which offer products and services for major events, stage shows, exhibitions by providing them radio controlled flying objects which float in the air as they are lighter than air and navigate through the air with their own power. These flying objects have potential to attract large number of customers or people towards the show or event and can create a magic like situation on the stage. We can construct these objects to be rigid, non-rigid or hybrid forms as per the requirements.
