Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Studio Hansen is an ambitious, international industrial design studio led by Anders Hansen.

Formed as a creative laboratory in April 2011, the Oslo studio works both independently and with clients to identify new business opportunities and creating new concepts, strategies and products.

Anders Hansen has a background from Hareide Designmill, Philips Design and Sony Ericsson Creative Design Center. He has many years of experience working with a wide range of concepts and products and have been involved in the creation and industrialization of countless successful products. Anders' designs have been awarded several times and also feature in MOMA's collection.
