HELLO,

My name is Avin, and I am a mobile UI designer living and working in Bangalore, India. I have 5+ years of user-centered design experience, predominantly focused on consumer-facing products for web, and handheld platforms. The scope of my work includes mobile app strategy, interaction and visual design, as well as simple prototype development. I am resourceful, I am scrappy, and I enjoy the challenge of translating user needs and complex functionality into simple, engaging applications. The struggle is part of my process, and it's how I learn and grow as a designer and problem solver.

MY OBJECTIVE

To provide high quality, cutting edge designs with best UI, keeping in mind the user friendliness of the application in terms of interoperability and navigation in between the interim user interfaces while ensuring optimal user interaction with least number of clicks. I strive to be aware of technical issues while catering to a large community of developers coming up with different ideas and concepts in terms of designs and operations. I make sure to adhere to the marketing requirements in terms of the product developed and ensure to utilize the best of my experience in order to provide a ready-to-deploy User Interface solution. Time and again, I have been able to give unique interfaces while making the best use of my artistic skills thoroughly mixed with the necessary usability elements.

Please kindly get in touch for more information.
