Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

The pictures I draw come from the fun side of our darker life, the same place as fairy tales and our thoughts that live in the night. I then mix things up with a little bit of day time television, over heard conversations and the arguments I have with myself. It seems to work.

At the moment I live in Cambridge a small medieval city on the edge of the world. Originally from London I came here to study illustration and found the medieval life suited me. If I ever end up living in the 15th Century I will become a monk and draw funny characters around the edge of illuminated manuscripts.
