Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae
A highly skilled, experienced, conceptual senior art director with an integrated, media neutral approach who can quickly arrive at the BIG IDEA and apply his craft to make it shine, producing work that engages and connects people with clients brands.

Tim has a rich background in advertising and direct marketing, previously working full time and currently freelance, in many respected agencies and for clients in London, where he has helped grow and win business with work that is both effective, elegant and award winning.

He is versatile and adaptable with the ability to clearly communicate thoughts and ideas through solid strategic thinking, scamps and crafted mac visuals to both colleagues and clients at senior level.

A true craftsman, he’s passionate about what he does and loves to be hands on, steering the quality of work through from concept to delivery that's always on time and on budget.
