Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

I was born in 1987 in Edremit.
After I was graduated from high school, I began to study agriculture engineering in Ankara University.
Now ever since I was a little boy, I have always been interested in fine arts, moustache and design, that's why I prepared and passed the competitive examination to enter the Visual communication design department at Gazi University.
To put into practice what I was studying, I worked part-time in several graphic and ad agencies in Ankara.
Then, as I passed my bachelor degree, I decided to leave the "administrative" town of Ankara to the "cultural" capital of Istanbul.
I am wearing a moustache for 8 years.
Looking to find a job in Istanbul, I staged my CV and shot a "CV video" which became a viral video on the web. Shortly afterwards, I started to work as an art director in both Fakülte communication services and Makina Medya production.
At the age of 3, I was wondering if I could be "The last son of Krypton", but after I figured that I weren't, and instead of being frustrated the rest of my life, I took the responsibility of the publishing management and the art direction of "Star Wars" and "Umbrella Academy" comic books publication in Turkey.
In december 2011, after the success of "Miles and Smiles" viral advertisement, I was invited to deliver a lecture on "Viral video in Turkey and around the world" at Bosphorus University.
In january 2012, I moved in Paris because I followed my wife and her career. For a while I worked for an Italian "Haute Couture" brand.
And then just before "end of the world" I moved back in Istanbul again.
I worked for an social media agency (Promoqube) as an Art Director for 1 year.
I am working as a freelancer.
