Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

I use photography as a means of self-expression – I make pictures for myself, to identify the hidden qualities of my character, to better understand my reality, to discover a new me in each of my photos and to express my interpretation of the world around me, the mystery of my soul, the darkness, the silence and the complexity that it hides. My goal is to open an unexplored world of emotions, a place of self-expression but also a place to relate with others in depth. I am moved by the stories around me, the different stages of my life, the emotions that overwhelm me.

I like composing by the contrast of light and dark, using it to deepen the emotions that I try to express through my photos. I still haven't found my path in this journey and I still haven't found it in life either. But I am still expressing myself in the meantime.

If these photos have a mission, is this: to help awaken the inner and deep side of yourself; looking inside, navigating the depths of your soul to find yourself.

I was born in August 1982 and I live in Buenos Aires, Argentina.
