Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae
My name is Charlotte, and I have been working as a nutrition coach for over 15 years. In addition, I have also been active as an independent product tester for quite some time now, which actually started as a hobby. I am thrilled that I was able to make this my work as well. The best thing about my job is that I can often combine these two well, giving my customers the best possible advice. That is why I regularly write articles about this passion for informing other people about the latest trends, developments and sharing my experiences in this way.
