Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

I'm an Australian photographer living in Southern California and in a past life I was a field biologist working with snakes in Outback Australia.

I deal in high-impact imagery. I try to photograph ideas more than portraits - directing scenes and characters to tell a story. I started out as a photojournalist shooting first wildlife, then wild places, and now; wild people and stories. I have a background in retouching and compositing, skill-sets which I now leverage to create images that would be impossible to make happen otherwise.
