Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

My name is Niklas Lundberg. I'm a 23-year old Freelance Graphic Designer & Illustrator based in the northern region of Sweden in a town called Umeå.

I'm completely self-taught in all fields and constantly learning and gathering inspiration to maintain a good balance within the industry. I've been working with illustration, print, motion and photography for several years. To me it's a genuine hobby to see something grow from a concept to a finished product. I love a challenge and I always try to push myself further for every project that I'm involved in.

I formed Diftype in 2006 as my first online showcase with the purpose of sharing my artwork and creativity. I've been creative for as long as I can remember so doing art came naturally to me. I also like problem-solving and making things function and being aesthetically appealing. I always tend to high-quality.

Throughout the years that I've been running Diftype, I have learned a lot and I have had the privilege to work with outstanding clients and It's been a wonderful trip so far. It's just the beginning.
