Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

++ Welcome to (dmd) studio, created in 2002 by David McNamara to provide industrial design services for real world business applications. (dmd) design capabilities range from evolving current product line to providing a scientific approach of envisioning entirely new product lines.

++ (dmd) has a proven record of creating successful products focusing on increasing clients brand recognition and sales. A streamline design approach makes our services a less expensive alternative than larger design consultancies. Experience spans industries such as consumer electronics, mobile and personal computing, athletic goods, household products and POP displays

++ Working with clients to create products that are loved by their target market is critical to (dmd) studio's aspiration of providing industrial design services for the real world.
