Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Lover of life. Artist. Dreamer.

Most of the time I'm just busy making stuff. Of course you want to share your talents with a broader audience. Through the years, that means my expression has taken the form of clay, drawing, sculpture, and now I actually do quite a bit of painting. The painting comes the most difficult to me, yet it has become a little more palatable over the last few years. Creating in clay is almost second nature.

To see my work at play come to life is humbling and flattering that people want to buy it, supporting what I love to do on a daily or, well, pretty much daily basis. I've had pieces make the cover of books, and pieces that have been celebrated by politicians. No matter, it still comes down to the little kid in me that would get up out of bed to draw late into the night. Only back then, I didn't tell anyone, b/c I didn't want to get in trouble.

Thanks, Hope you enjoy, and I welcome all comments, ideas and suggestions!

Here's one for you-- Go out and create something of your own today! And then share it with the world shamelessly!

Thanks,

Drew

Previous Clientele

Mostly my work of late involves private commissions, so I'm not into name mentioning.
