EXPERT OPINION

KOMAL NIRULA, Director - Creatives & JAYANT GANDHI, Director - Operations
Futomic Design Services Pvt. Ltd., New Delhi

Challenges faced in adapting the western concept of a modular kitchen in the traditional Indian setup? Do you believe in a mix and match solution?

Of course, the Indian cooking style is a lot different from the Western Style. The most important item while designing the open style modular Kitchens is the 'Chimney'. It is very essential to buy a high suction Chimney that can absorb the fumes of Indian cooking style.

We totally believe in a mix and match solution. It is very imperative to buy each and every item according to the custom pre-requisites of the client. In fact we go a step ahead and get the high end shutters & fittings sourced from China & Italy as well.

How have the manufacturers catered for India specific appliances?

A modern day Modular Kitchen is absolutely incomplete without the appliances and gadgets. The manufacturers have come a long way and made lot of customizations in their product line in order to cater to the Indian environment. For example we have triple ring burners these days in order to meet the Indian cooking style of frying & heating. High suction chimneys are available in order to remove the greasy fumes. In fact, we have microwaves these days with Pre-set Menus for making dals, paneer & the tandoori items.

What are the prefered appliances for man?

The decision of buying appliance mostly rests with the men. Their focus is generally on easy to use Smart Appliances of good renowned companies. There are certain Kitchen appliances which you can say are hot favourites of men like the Bar-Be-Que machines, the Cappuccino maker, the Refrigerator & the Wine Coolers.

Indian customer is always looking forward to value for money items. Men definitely like to buy the best of best gadgets that are available in the market. Built in ovens & microwaves are on a high demand amongst men. Also they prefer gadgets with maximum automatic menus that are easy to operate.

The trend of Smart Appliances is picking up very well. Men want even their kitchen to be operated with Remote Control and soft touch menus as their other gadgets. This is being achieved also by Remote operated Shutters, built in Smart Microwaves & Refrigerators.

Also people are going in for Odour Control fitments in their Kitchens. The focus is a lot on the lighting effects. Mood Lightings are a sure shot hit amongst men. Lot of such Smart Gadgets are available these days to take your Kitchen to the next level.

"We have come up with a hybrid model of the Kitchen where in one part of the Kitchen is absolutely high-end to be used by the owner and the other part where the household staff has to work is designed in a very robust fashion."
