Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

I come from an art school background, training at Camberwell College of Arts, followed by an MA in illustration at Central St. Martins. I started working as an art buyer at J Walter Thompson in London in 2006 where I managed production and commission of photographers and illustrators for our clients' commercial campaigns. I've been representing digital illustrators for just over a year now, including the fantastic CGI artist Alan Murray. It's a privilege to work with a professional of such a high calibre, being part of the creative process, and watching his work develop is an honour.

Previous Clientele

Clients include V05, Mercedes, El Paso, Ballantines, Peugeot, The Range, Shortlist, Carling, Bloomberg View, and Scout Magazine

Awards and Accolades

I come from an art school background, training at Camberwell College of Arts, followed by an MA in illustration at Central St. Martins. I started working as an art buyer at J Walter Thompson in London in 2006 where I managed production and commission of photographers and illustrators for our clients' commercial campaigns. It was here that I learned project management across both disciplines and furthered my knowledge of and passion for commercial illustration.

I set up George Grace Represents, representing 7 digital illustrators this year and have had the pleasure of watching their careers grow.
