Dubai 42

Dubai is one of the world's most exciting melting pots of cultures and 21st century surrealism. Taking centre stage to the biggest, tallest, longest and richest of everything, Dubai's popularity as both a business and tourist destination is without doubt second to none.

Maldives 51

Welcome to the Maldives, where sands are white as the smiles of the locals, where fish swim happily in the warm waters of the Indian Ocean, where the weather is a dream, and the deep rays of the sun wait to engulf you their arms.

GREECE

Greece mainland and the Greek islands are one of the favorite holiday destinations in Europe. In fact, Greece comes in the 15th place in the world rating of tourist destinations, since, according to the National Statistical Service of Greece, it receives more than 15 million tourists every year.

GREECE is a famous country, popular for its clean beaches and its long history. There are hundreds of archaeological and historical sites to visit in Greece that gloriously depict the country's past. Greece is surrounded by water, in particular the Aegean and the Ionian Sea. The country consists of more than 1,400 islands and islets, but only 169 of them are inhabited.

These Greek islands form, one by one, a beauty of nature. They are the most popular Greek destinations, especially in summer. Mykonos, with its cosmopolitan character; Santorini, with the most romantic sunset in the world; Rhodes, the island of the medieval castles, the sun and the butterflies; Crete, with its revolutionary spirit; Ios, with the wild nightlife; Corfu, with its Venetian style; Ithaca, the homeland of Ulysses; Samos, the greenest of all Greek islands; Skiathos, with its long and sandy beaches; all these constitute just a few examples of the most famous Greek paradises.

Few cities boast a historic heritage as impressive as that of Athens. A city worshipped by gods and people, a magical city. The birthplace of civilisation and democracy. Home to the astonishing archaeological monument the Acropolis – nominated to be one of the 7 wonders of the modern world.

Greece has a population of 10,610,000 (2000) of which 3.7 million are concentrated in Athens, the country's capital.

Greece is one of the poorest countries of the European Union. It is an agricultural country. 22% of the workforce is employed for agriculture, 27% in the industry sector and 50 % in the services. Tourism and shipping is the biggest economical contributor of Greece.

The Greeks belongs to the Orthodox Church with a majority of 98% of the population.

Greek Mythology is one of the most fascinating mythological accounts of the ancient world. The myths were actually efforts of the people to explain the creation of the world, the nature around them, weather conditions and generally any superhuman that was happening in their daily life.

Top destinations: Athens, The Acropolis, Temple Of Poseidon, Santorini, Crete, Myconos, Zakynthos, Rhodos, Thessaloniki..

HAWAII

Hawaii is a traveler's dream with six unique islands to choose from, each with a distinctive personality. Explore Hawaii's fascinating culture, bask on white-sand beaches, and dine on fresh-caught seafood and Island-picked tropical fruits.

Hawaii will captivate you with pristine beaches and lush tropical rainforests. Get lost in the remote wilderness of Kauai's Na Pali Coast, watch magma smolder at the volcano's surface, or enjoy the pulse of Waikiki winding through a myriad of delectable restaurants and limitless shopping along spectacular beach front.

There are eight main islands of the Hawaiian chain, six of which are open to visitors. The most traveled island, Oahu is home to famous Waikiki and the only metropolis in Hawaii; Honolulu. Maui has beautiful countryside and a boutique feel even in the resort areas of west Maui and Kihei. Volcanoes National Park, the ever-flowing volcano Kilauea, and popular Kailua-Kona town are all found in Hawaii (aka Big Island). Kauai is an island for adventurous outdoor lovers great for hiking, biking, and kayaking. Remote and authentically Hawaiian, Molokai holds the history of Kalaupapa and Father Damien. Seclusive Lanai is where you get away from it all and indulge in relaxation, golf, and empty beaches.

The Hawaiian Islands are temperate year round with peak travel season December thru April. The very best time to see Hawaii is during the transition period between the dry season and the wet season; April and May or September and October.

There are several companies in Hawaii that have incredible experience in handling destination weddings. They can typically handle all of the planning including filing papers, arranging a minister, and coordinating vendors.

Hawaii does not observe daylight savings time. In fact, Hawaii has its own time zone known as Hawaiian Standard Time. Since Hawaii is a mere 20 degrees north of the equator, the islands experience near 12 hour days all year with the sun rising and setting around 6:30 local time.

Tipping standards in Hawaii are in general the same as in the continental United States. When staying in a hotel

ISTANBUL

Spanning the two continents of Europe and Asia, home to a population of more than 14 million people, and with enough historical sites to keep any person busy for several lifetimes, Istanbul is as stunningly beautiful as it is unique.

Bringing together elements from Byzantine, Greek, Roman, Ottoman and Turkish civilizations, Istanbul has evolved over centuries into a city of great cultural significance. As well as its popular historical and religious sites, the city has a wide range of contemporary museums, art galleries and musical talent. The energy and creative spirit is palpable.

Istanbul is a city of extreme contrasts. From the fabulously wealthy to the very poor; the traditionalist to the liberal; from glitzy shopping malls to backstreet markets, Istanbul encompasses the good, the bad and the very beautiful.

And beautiful it surely is. Sprawling across four different waterways, Istanbul is literally surrounded by water, making it the perfect place to explore by boat. Whether you wish to cross from Europe to Asia, to cruise along the Golden Horn or Bosphorus Strait and onto the Black Sea, or to visit the Princes' Islands or the nearby city of Bursa on the Sea of Marmara, there's no more refreshing way to see the city.

Sultanahmet is at the historical heart of the city on the Eminönü Peninsula and is where most visitors come to experience some of history's most famous sites including Hagia Sophia, the Blue Mosque and the Hippodrome.

Opposite Eminonu on the Golden Horn is Beyoglu, the modern entertainment centre of Istanbul, while on the other side of the Bosphorus lies the equally intriguing and less visited Asian side of Istanbul, which includes the suburbs of Kadiköy and Üsküdar.

Turkey follows GMT +2 hours. Though the water in Istanbul is chlorinated, it's recommended that visitors drink bottled water.

Turkish Lira is the official currency of Turkey. Note that the exchange rate in Turkey works out to be around US$1 = 1.50 TL and €1 = 1.92 TL.

In ancient times, the shores of the Maldives welcomed lost travellers. Still welcoming, these shores remain, providing a tranquil haven for visitors.

Maldives has deep blue seas, turquoise reefs, white sandy beaches and palm trees. It is also a place full of character, where its people have long spent their days languishing in the very essence of idyll living. While it is the perfect place to sit on a beach and watch a sunset with a cocktail balanced on your hand, it is also a geographical marvel, knowing that there are thousands of fish swimming around the vivid corals just a few feet away from where you sit.

The Maldives lies in two rows of atolls in the Indian Ocean, just across the equator. The country is made up of 1,190 coral islands formed around 26 natural ring-like atolls, spread over 90,000 square kilometers. These atolls structures are formed upon a sharp ridge rising from the ocean, making way for their secluded uniqueness.

Ninety-nine percent of the Maldives is made up of sea. The people of the islands are widely dispersed across the atolls, with about 200 inhabited islands. About 90 islands are developed as tourist resort and the rest are uninhabited or used for agriculture and other livelihood purposes.

The weather in the Maldives is usually picture perfect: sunlit days, breezy nights, balmy mornings, and iridescent sunsets. The temperature hardly ever changes - which makes packing for your holiday an easy task (see what to pack). With the average temperature at about 30 degrees Celsius throughout the year, the sun is a constant on most days, shining through treetops, creating lacy patterns on your feet, healing cold-bones with its warmth.

Welcome to the Maldives, where sands are white as the smiles of the locals, where fish swim happily in the warm waters of the Indian Ocean, where the weather is a dream, and the deep rays of the sun wait to engulf you their arms.

Bursting out of the sea and sand, Dubai is an unstoppable machine with its wealth extending far beyond the lands of the Gulf States. In 1971, Dubai along with five other emirates and a sixth in 1972, signed an agreement to create what is known today as the United Arab Emirates. Whilst the six other Emirates are following hard in the innovative footsteps of Dubai to build their tourism and commerce presence, Dubai has mustered interest and investments across the globe. Home to the only seven star hotel in the world, the tallest building in the world and the construction of two man-made islands, allegedly visible from space, Dubai is a tremendously exciting destination for the intrepid traveller. Whether you are looking for culture, fun, adventure or a place to make money, Dubai is an iconic statement of all the great things in life.

Favoured as the destination of choice in the Middle East, Dubai not only offers an enjoyable and safe place to stay, but liberal attitudes to what you drink and what you wear, as well as a cosmopolitan lifestyle make it extremely difficult to leave. That said, visitors must always be observant of local customs and cultures so as not to upset the traditional values of this proud nation.

With a population of barely a million and half residents, yet boasting more than six million visitors a year and growing, Dubai offers an unprecedented array of best in class hotels, recreation facilities and shopping malls of almost anywhere in the world. Top that with beautiful beaches, year round sunshine and a safe environment and you have the perfect getaway destination for the ideal holiday, or, as many of the hundred plus nationalities do; join the expat brigade and stay to earn a living.

The monetary unit is the UAE Dirham (AED) divided into 100 fils. The currency is pegged to the US Dollar at a rate of US $= AED 3.67. However US$ is accepted as a currency and form of payment in many outlets and hotels.

Tipping practices in Dubai are comparable to most places throughout the rest of the world. Some restaurants may include a service charge on top of the bill; otherwise a tip of 10 per cent of the bill is the norm. For luggage porters at airports a tip of Dhs5 or Dhs10 is standard, depending on the amount of luggage.
