Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Nearly in every country of the world especially in third world and underdeveloped countries, most of the resources were spent on military and in the development of armed resources, where some of the countries put the high share of their economic resources write my paper for cheap on infrastructure and extrinsic development of the country. Possibly none of the state or its government seems to be interested in the development of their people through education.

Prioritizing the education is a neglected probably in every part of the world, and it is regarded as a least important aspect of any society. In real education is one thing that turns the coal into a diamond. Education enlightens the vision of any nation and leads them towards prosperity <https://writingpaper.net/do-my-homework/> while eliminating darkness. Many parts of the world remains aback majorly due to an inappropriate educational structure which is a result of insufficient educational resources.

We can witness in the world that most of the nations are very rich in respect of any natural mineral or resource, but they do not have knowledge about how they could utilize their natural resources for their benefit. They either do not have resources to extract the mineral or resource or do not have any idea about its utility or its transformation.

This result in any superior country to exploit their resources and in return, they get a little share from that. Education brings a great deal of visionary minds in the nation which leads them towards abundance and a path full of opportunities <https://writingpaper.net/pay-for-essay/>. Where in educationally deprived nation their leaders also have no vision or passion for getting their country to the new level of success in the world neither their people are that much educated to explore a different aspect of the ever changing world which might get them prosperity.
