Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Infinity Design is a product development company specialising in industrial design and the development of innovative products for manufacture. The company has over fourteen years of experience and a team of dedicated, passionate and creative staff with an excellent work culture. Our talented team is large enough to take on projects with major corporations, but small enough to care about every client and every project that we choose to be involved in.

We work on a variety of projects ranging from consumer electronics, agricultural, industrial and medical products, through to sports gear, home wares and food packaging. Infinity's development process spans from research and creative concept design through to advanced 3D CAD, prototyping and management of the manufactured product. Innovation is an important element of our work and we have created valuable protectable IP for many of our clients. We have won many awards for our work including Australian International Design awards, Sustainable Design awards, Professional Innovation awards, and awards of excellence from the Design Institute of Australia.

Our business is a unique service that bridges the gap between good idea and product realisation. To do this well, we need to collaborate with related specialists who can assist with product commercialisation. They may be researchers, marketing, branding, business and IP strategists, electronics designers and manufacturers. This network is part of our competitive advantage and allows us, as a relatively small company, to take on large projects with major clients.
