Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Intech Automazione Srl, an Italy-based industrial automation distributor, was founded in 1989 from humble local beginnings and has since grown to become a prolific one-stop multibrand distributor of industrial automation products and components. Focusing on the distribution of a wide range of industrial automation products like sensors, transducers, drives and controllers, our company operates within the global marketplace via a wide network of distributors across more than 90 countries; guaranteeing rapid and effective service. Our international team is comprised of multicultural employees who are native speakers from Europe, Asia, and Africa, providing us with a global edge in terms of meeting our clients' needs in their preferred language. Additionally as an internationally oriented industrial automation distributor, our dedicated team is poised to deliver second-to-none service and assistance to customers' requests and enquiries from all over the world, offering the best conditions thanks to our strong and growing network of partners. Intech is able to offer you the best products of well-renowned industrial automation brands at the most competitive prices. We aim to be your one-stop international industrial automation distributor to meet your industrial automation supply requirements.
