Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Josh loves to combine humanitarian aid and photography. It's not just about making great photographs, it's about putting the camera down and getting his hands dirty. But once he returns, it's about getting those images out and raising awareness. He has been in war-torn Iraq, earthquake ravaged Haiti, and with the homeless among the streets of Atlanta, guiding viewers into the lives and hearts of the people he photographs, capturing their human dignity and showing the "resilience of humanity."
