Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

I didn't learn how to properly pronounce my sister's name (Thushfia) until third grade. But that was a dark time in the past. Today, I am a rising junior studying chemical engineering and pursuing minors in biotechnology and creative writing. You can say that I'm indecisive about my interests. When I'm not in the lab, I'm probably writing stories about a solution to divorce problem and consuming large volumes of apples and hazelnut coffee.
