Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae
Liam O'Farrell is a London-based illustrator working mostly in oils, or watercolours.

I exhibit often, including the Royal Academy Summer Exhibitions in London, and as far afield as Tokyo. (http://www.royalacademy.org.uk/exhibitions/summer-exhibition-2011/)

My work celebrates the ordinary - and the great thing about the ordinary is that there is so much of it.

In my work I cherish the uniqueness of our dilapidated seaside towns, stumbling light industries and the ‘wearing slippers to the off license’ easy going part of culture.

And not just in London and the UK - I have recently documented my travel writing & illustration to Cuba and The Pyrenees on my website and blog.

I am interested in editorial work and general illustration commissions.

Please visit my website: http://www.liamofarrell.com/

If you wish to commission a painting for illustration and publishing purposes please contact my agent. They are lovely people.
