Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Loïc J. Sattler is currently crafting creative campaigns as an Art Director at TBWA\Paris. Since 1999, Loïc has proven his design-skills in web-design, multimedia, print collateral, clothes styling, and corporate identity. He features clients such as Coca-Cola, Mercedes, Adidas, L'Oreal, Warner Brothers, IBM, and Design Council London...

In 2003, he launched his platform Lysergid.com into virtual orbit, where he showcases selected artistic and professional works.

The creative works made on Lysergid are strong, tense and colourful. Bright and Vivid creations that are often composed around a gravity center.

That's why Loïc has this surname of Lysergid, which is the technical word for the LSD, the concentrated capsule of colours and illusions.

Loïc was awarded a Master's Degree in New Media Theory in Germany in 2005 which made him feel the urge to share his knowledge. This is why he is devoted to people who share his passion, by attending and organizing conferences, building-up design related events, teaching in schools, and writing articles and interviews for communities and magazines.

Loïc has constantly been driven by enthusiasm. Inspired by everything, everywhere, he's the type of guy who is in love with visual creation. His aim is to be understood as an individual who wishes to take things further by empowering his profession to the best of his ability.
