Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Hey there! My name is Max and I currently work as a graphic designer for a London-based company called Van Squad. You can read more about them in the next part.

Previous Clientele

As said currently I work for a company that offers man and van in London and the area.

But why are we the top choice?

Well, we are in this industry for almost a decade now and we've perfected our removals and moving services. We are focused on man and van. In England and the rest of the UK this service is what people need when they have to deal with smaller moving projects in weight. Every day we move furniture like mattresses, commodes, dining tables and living room pieces. Our movers are experienced and trained to deal every issue out there.

What areas does our man and van cover you might ask?

Van Squad covers any part of London our clients need. I personally help the clients in the Borough of Croydon and its adjacent areas. I've moved people from South Norwood; Norbury; Coulsdon; Purley; Thornton Heath; Shirley and Upper Norwood. The teams I supervise are always on top of their game. This is why we are the most reliable man and van hire in Croydon for the past year. Our movers are also really careful when it comes to assembling furniture from IKEA Croydon and other small local furniture shops.

Moving checklist

Mindful organising and thinking ahead can and will minimise the stress of moving house. Use the following moving checklist together with our "Who to notify checklist?" to guide you through the six weeks prior to the moving day.

WEEKS BEFORE THE MOVE

6

Confirm the date of the move.

If you're renting, notify your landlord of your moving date.

Check your home insurance - be sure you have cover from the date you move in to your new home.

Get written quotes from more than two removal firms. Get information and check their insurance.

Book extra storage space if required. Book storage only for items that you will need.

Notify your utility companies of the move.

Begin to get rid of items you no longer need. Donate them to charity, sell them at a sale or just give out to your friends for free.

If you require any new furniture or carpets - it's time to order them and book a delivery service for when you move in.

Packing non-essential things such as books and non-seasonal clothes into boxes.

Contact and de-register from your doctor, dentist and optician if your move is out of the area.

Go to the post office and arrange for your post to be forwarded (as of April 1, 2015 the service fee for that starts from £29.99).

Notify your milkman and newspaper delivery that you are moving and give them a date you want the service to stop.

Arrange someone to look after your kids or pets during the move.

Make a list of close friends and relatives who should know about the move. Send out change of address cards.

Finalise and book your removal company. Confirm arrival times, quotes and make sure the movers have directions to your new address. Be sure to find a parking spot for their vehicle as different areas and boroughs in London have different parking permissions and operating hours.

Schedule a meeting with the estate agent or landlord to take the keys for your new home.
