Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae
Canadian-born Maggie Kerr has been fine tuning her eye for beauty since high school, eventually working in the print, film, and television industries across the US and Canada. She was the spokesperson for Peruvian skincare and cosmetics line L'Bel Paris, was named Best Make-Up Artist by 7x7 magazine in San Francisco, and has worked with actress Lea Michele, and photographers Victor Skrebneski, Ben Watts, and Nigel Barker. Additionally, she was the beauty editor to StyleIndustry.com, has made an appearance on "The Mixx" (WB20), has been featured and quoted in publications AOL, and BeautyNewsLA.com, has written for magazines Lavish, and Sheridan Road, and has been a guest lecturer on make-up artistry at The Kingston School of Esthetics. Maggie also volunteers when the opportunity arises with Look Good Feel Better, an American Cancer Society program that helps patients cope with the physical appearance changes during and after chemotherapy.
