Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

I'm a print designer who's designed and art directed a wide range of projects, most notably: children's books, wedding invitations, and non-profit advertisements. I grew up in Virginia, graduated from Parsons School of Design in New York, and currently spend my days as an Associate Art Director at ABRAMS Books and my evenings as a freelance designer. My favorite part of design is problem solving, i.e. the exploratory journey of visual thinking. I firmly believe that anything can be made better with good design, Victorian typography, or the color red.
