Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

My name is Neal and I'm content manager of Atomseo Company. Our company provides website productivity services for webmasters, seo specialists and web site owners. Our main product is Atomseo Broken Links Checker — the free online service for detecting broken and dead links on any website and improve site health. It's very helpful and allows to improve your search engine visibility.

You know that according to statistics almost half of all websites contain at least one broken link (404 error). And it does not depend on the level - there are errors both on small websites and big companies with world fame.

Only less than a quarter of customers who visit a non-existent page on the site make a second attempt to get the content. And over 75 percent leave the site for good! These are very disturbing numbers. Therefore, it is recommended to regularly check the website for broken links (error code 404). Monitoring allows you to find and correct such errors in time. This will prevent the website from losing traffic.

We at Atomseo have set up a special service for checking websites for errors. You can check the entire website as well as a single page or a list of your links. You can check up to 2000 links a day for free.

We are sure that your competitors are already working on fixing this problem. Do not give them a chance to pass you over. Start fixing the errors on your website today.
