Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

I like making things with my hands. Though one could argue that the keyboard and mouse are technically "working with one's hands," it's my greatest pleasure to pick up a pencil, paintbrush or chunk of clay and use it to create unique and effective visual solutions for any design project.

When I'm not pinching clay I also boast a strong set of skills in the digital realm, including vector illustration, page layout and interface design.

Previous Clientele
