Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Being Innovative and original is the way I find my solstice, my humility, and my thoughts outside the box.

Natural selection is the reason for it. Ever since I started using random materials as parts and base of work, I've found it thamaturgic. As the years went on, the process has become more refined in it's way with me. Taking me from crafting to artisan. I was a featured artist on Juxtapose Magazines' website <http://www.juxtapoz.com/Current/errick-freeman-the-glass-carver>

I also have been featured in the local newspaper of my hometown a few times.

Working and creating fulfills me with achievement and sincerity, and has affirmed a workable transport for decoding my slant to the lean; my intellect to the bewilderment.

I work outward. My works are purposeful and employ simplistic, innovative and challenging style. Working off the cuff is how my best works are formed.

My imagination gets free through experimenting with different materials. I usually stick with a certain thing until I feel that I have mastered my way with it, then I might incorporate it into the next series of works.

I also am very involved with music. I've been producing, recording, and playing for nearly 20 years now.
