Awards and Accolades
Philipp gained work experience at Mission Design in Oslo, where he was involved in building inspiring identities for a wide range of Norwegian clients.

Being employed as a Graphic Designer at adidas headquarters for three years he created apparel illustrations for the global market. Philipp was also taking care of the curation and creative direction of the adidas Performance Urban Artist Series that featured well-known illustrators and artists.

His freelance design experience ranges from branding projects to illustrative work. For example designing the new logo for the German glassware brand Leonardo, apparel graphics for the kids' clothing brand Soft Gallery from Copenhagen or the creation of a complete identity for the German product design agency Ding 3000.

In his personal art projects he works on abstract as well as tangible images like his vibrantly drawn ape portraits or architectural drawings of Japan-inspired structures.
