Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Jeff Green is a professional photographer who has been shooting for the past twenty years. Originally from Southern California, he is now based in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Jeff's initial passion for lighting stems from his early days growing up in Los Angeles going to rock concerts as a kid. His graphic style of composition, intuitive lighting sensibility, creative problem solving and vast location shooting experience has earned him a list of top notch clients from around the world.

Jeff loves being involved in the creative process with a client from start to finish, even though he is sometimes left to his own devices on many assignments for his clients who are based in other parts of the country.

He shoots a variety of subject matter, ranging from architecture and the built environment to food, products and portraits. His clients include everyone from large advertising agencies and hotel/resorts, to architectural firms, corporations and editorial publications.

Jeff uses the finest digital photography equipment available. Shooting with both Canon and Leica digital camera systems with prime lenses. Clients receive publication and or web ready high resolution files.

Jeff Green has the distinction to have been featured in "Studio Photography & Design", "PDN", "Popular Photography", and "Digital Photo Pro", as well as Amphoto books, "Location and Studio Lighting techniques". His work has been widely published around the world.
