Welcome to Pocket. The brain child of Creative Designer, Illustrator, Animator and Creative Artist, Brett Piva. Pockets love for art, design, music, film and the moving image keeps us in tune with emerging trends and skill sets. Our keen interest in animation, video and all things creative has seen us evolve into the modern beast, that's always ready to bust out of it's cage.

The rise of Pocket began in Sydney and continued to grow in the UK, collaborating with some of London's leading advertising and design agencies. Pockets many creative talents gained a strong reputation as a freelance designer and soon secured work with many diverse and global clients. Our ever changing style and modern representation of design has kept us in close reach of many challenging and rewarding projects. We will continue to focus on these strengths to provide original, creative and imaginative concepts that will forever push the boundaries of design, the arts and illustration.
