Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Primary Comms Group is a leading public relations agency in Sydney, specializing in strategic communication, creative design, and community engagement services. We bring together experts across public relations, media relations, stakeholder engagement, and public consultation to deliver impactful solutions.

As a boutique communications agency, we bring together industry experts in media relations, corporate PR, and stakeholder engagement strategy, ensuring every project benefits from senior consultancy involvement. Whether you need a PR agency in Sydney, a corporate PR agency, or an expert team for crisis communication, we deliver measurable results that drive meaningful connections.

We collaborate with corporations, businesses, government departments, and non-profits, offering integrated solutions as a communication agency, internal communication agency, or media relations agency.
