Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Purple Pepper Design is the alter-ego of Sarah Dummer; a graphic designer creating creative things for people who need a bit of creativity. Since graduating from the University of Bath in 2006, Sarah has worked both agency side and in-house.

Now a freelance designer, she spends her days creating designs for companies both large and small, but she still finds time to work on personal design projects and collaborations. Specialising in design for print, she also loves photography, painting, crafts and generally making a colourful mess around her studio whenever possible.

Previous Clientele

Honda, Arval, Stanley Security Solutions, Great Western Railway, The University of Reading, The Royal Artillery and Book Club Associates
